TUITION

Tuition for the program is $750. The tuition covers all expenses, including speakers, graduation and the first year's dues in the Leadership Bartlett Alumni Association. Businesses and organizations sponsor participants in LEADERSHIP BARTLETT due to the many benefits it provides.

STRUCTURE

The term leadership is often used as a call to action or a solution to a problem. But how many truly understand the role of leadership and the challenges of leading a group, an institution, or a community. Leader what makes a leader and the importance of leadership in economic and community development. Learn what makes a leader and the importance of leadership in economic and community development.

The class meets twice a month for sessions exploring the leadership and operations of City, County, and State Governments and the Private Sector. Classes include an in-depth look at the fundamentals of Economic and Community Development. In addition, the class will be involved in recommending and designing a community project from concept to feasibility.

To graduate, class participants are required to attend the retreat and 80% of the sessions. A total commitment of time is required to achieve a complete education in each subject area.

Final session and graduation, the class will make a presentation to a select group of business, civic, and government leaders. Recognition of completion is presented to class members at the graduation dinner. Upon graduating, the Leadership Bartlett Alumni Association welcomes class members into the association.
